

All Inclusive Gulet Cruises

Most gulets offer similar All - Inclusive packages when talking about their weekly rates. These prices usually include:

- Gulet and crew charter
- Fuel allowance (about 4 hours of engine use per day is sufficient for a weekly charter)
- A few hours of air-conditioning
- Bed linen, towels, etc.
- Standard port charges
- Maybe some water sports.
- Some gulets offer packages that include all your drinking water and soft drinks.
- Some include alcohol.

Your agency will organize about your needs. No one wants gulet cruises where local products and prices can be confusing, and one has to shop in calm ports. Therefore, it makes sense to organize your vacation in advance. In this way, everything will be ready for you when you arrive.

All-Inclusive Gulet Cruise

High-quality gulets sometimes use a different system known as APA. These additional costs are covered by the Advance Provisioning Allowance. This cost is usually 30% of the rental price. APA includes fuel, food, wine and liquors, berthing, communications, etc. covers costs. The captain takes responsibility for this and keeps a detailed record and adjustments made at the end of the charter.
