There are so many choices of routes that are possible. The Dalmatian Coastline has many islands to explore. The popular and world-famous ports of Dubrovnik and Split are also in Croatia.

Some islands are large. You can explore those islands from land. For example ; Korcula, Mljet, Hvar, and the Kornati.

Discover Dalmatian Coasts

- Solta Island is not far from Split. Sesula Bay is a beautiful, tranquil bay where you can discover local fishing, olive groves, and vineyards. You also enjoy the peace of relaxation and swim on board. Try the kayaks or paddleboards to discover more. You will sip your drinks before a delicious dinner on the deck, and a beautiful sunset will accompany you. Just great!
- The lovely Pakleni Islands are an idyllic anchorage for relaxing with beautiful scenery. When your chef prepares your dinner, you can drink at the beach bars, take a short swim or take a relaxing walk.
- From here you can also take a taxi boat ride to beautiful Hvar if this is not already part of your itinerary. Hvar the town is chic and lively, you will see the old fortress which has stunning views all over town.
- Korcula Island is a great place to visit. Vela Luka' is a big town. Here there is a promenade lined with cafes and restaurants. You can also enjoy water sports and explore many beautiful coves. Korcula old town is a medieval city with narrow cobbled streets, try sampling the local Posip wine and visit the St. Mark's cathedral when you are there.
- Mljet island offers forests, vineyards, picturesque small villages, a forested National Park, and salt lakes, where you can also swim and kayak during your land exploration.
- Sipan is a small island rich in vegetation and predominantly olive trees. Sipan is also popular with the rich and famous, another great place to visit as part of your yacht cruise itinerary. There are stunning Nature Parks and small islands where guests can explore different places throughout the day. Re-joining your gulet late afternoon for tea or later for the evening meal. Every meal aboard is such a wonderful and relaxing experience, sharing your time with your fellow guests and crew making unforgettable memories.
